We went to Lake Calm. "The lake is so calm," they said. The water was calm and the sun was shining. They enjoyed the view. "I love the lake," one of them said. "It's so peaceful."

"Yes," another said. "I could sit here all day."

They decided to have a picnic. They spread out their blankets and opened their lunches. They took out their sandwiches and ate them together. "This is so nice," one of them said.

"I agree," the other replied. "I love being out in nature."
